

XM satellite radio is a wonderful service. As an avid music listener, I find that the programming XM provides out shines the programming found on FM. In addition, the ability to hear traffic and weather 24/7 in my city and in cities to which I travel has made my commute and travel more enjoyable.

I understand why the NAB is against satellite radio -- it provides services that its members do not.

Before you take steps to harm this wonderful service, give it a try. You cannot possibly legislate against something you have not experienced. I think that after you listen to XM radio, you will be glad you did.

XM is providing competition to the NAB members -- rather than bring XM down to the FM mediocrity, you should tell NAB to have its members raise the level of their service.
